THE ABOVE BOOKS ARE PRINTED,

Electrotyped and Bound in Louisville, Kentucky. Their mechanical beauty is not equalled by any book of its kind now published in the United States, and will bear comparison with any books on existence, in regard to the quality of matter they contain. They are being rapidly adopted into Schools in all parts of the South. As evidence of the estimation in which they are held, we append a few of the endorsements recently received:

From Rt. Rev. W. M. GREEN, Bishop of Mississippi, Columbus:

"I am greatly pleased with the Readers, and glad to see nothing of that peculiar spirit which has generally distinguished such publications from the Northern press."

From L. N. URNER, President Mississippi College, Clinton:

"We have been using the Goodrich Series of Readers, six in number, in our preparatory department for some years, and are much pleased with them."

From Rev. J. R. HAMBURLIN, Principal of Meridian Female College:

"I have been using your series of Goodrich Readers, edited by Noble Butler, also Butler's English Grammars, and I find them pre-eminently adapted to our course of education in this State."

From Wm. E. YOUNG, Principal Warren Female Seminary, Vicksburg:

"I have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion the Goodrich Readers are decidedly superior to all other similar publications with which I am acquainted, and this opinion is based on their use in my school in preference to all rivals."

From Rev. JOHN HUNTER, Superintendent Public Schools, Jackson:

"The trustees of the public schools held a meeting some days ago, and decided unanimously to introduce the series of Readers, edited by Noble Butler, as the best within their knowledge. They will be introduced, together with other Grammars, at the beginning of next session."

From A. D. McVOY and P. L. PARLING, Principals of Classical School, Columbus:

"The Readers are not surpassed by any published, being composed of the choicest and most appropriate selections, interesting to the pupil, and free from any objections. They are the books to place in the hands of our Southern pupils."

No argument necessary; a fair trial will convince all of its efficacy."

Ladies will find it not safe a certain remedy to the toothache. We have prepared a desirable article for the Toilet, as it is highly perfumed with arach and delicate perfume, independent of the fragrance of the Oils of Palm and Mace.

The next feature particularly attractive, is the simplicity of language and extraordinary clearness of style. The definitions are unequivocal, and other explanatory illustrations, the ideas are always conveyed with a clear distinctness that must commend itself to every educator. All the demonstrations and examples, as well as the definitions, are perspicuous and not "fudged."

A feature that we like, is the arrangement.

Schools and Academies more thoroughly, scientifically and practically than any other work known to us.

The work is admirably got up, by John P. Morris, a learned and true man, as well as a first-class publisher."
